

Many of your patients may soon face an unnecessary health crisis

EVERY DAY, WITH EVERY PATIENT, YOU USE YOUR PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT, YOUR EXPERTISE, YOUR EXPERIENCE TO ENSURE THE HEALTH OF YOUR PATIENTS.

But FDA, citing a deeply flawed report that it commissioned, is signaling that it may severely restrict compounded hormones. This would be a serious health crisis for millions of patients — for your patients — who rely on compounded hormone therapies to live their lives normally. Because, as you know, FDA-approved drugs are not right for every patient. For those patients, compounded hormones are the only option.

The loss of compounded hormones as a treatment option for hormonal imbalance would undermine your professional judgment and interfere with your ability to practice medicine. And it would be disastrous for your patients.

RAISE YOUR VOICE IN SUPPORT OF
YOUR PATIENTS

Alliance for
Pharmacy
Compounding

Compounding the Joy of Living

compounding.com

“

From the outset, it was clear that the committee had no interest in decades of patient outcomes or in listening to actual experts in hormone therapies.

DR. ANGELA DEROSA
FOUNDER, CHIEF MEDICAL OFFICER
DRM INTEGRATIVE HEALTH

RESTRICTING COMPOUNDED HORMONES WOULD LIMIT YOUR ABILITY TO TREAT YOUR PATIENTS

Perhaps this story sounds familiar:

“After 15 years of struggling with thyroid disease and menopause, I have finally found medications that work. I tried synthetic thyroid medications before, and none of them gave me the results I get with compounded hormones. My compounded medications have improved every facet of my life. ...It would be a disservice to all women if these treatments were unavailable.”

And yet, that is precisely what FDA is considering — removing patient access to compounded hormones. Denying you that option to treat your patients. Be aware. Raise your voice.

We are raising awareness of this critical issue with doctors, with patients, with our representatives in Congress. Because the health and well-being of millions of patients depend on it. Before FDA restricts compounded hormones, we need you to make your voice heard.

Speak to your patients. Make sure your patients understand the risks of FDA's actions.

Speak to your compounding pharmacists. Speak out together in support of your patients.

Reach out to your representatives in Congress. Make your voice heard in D.C.

We're talking about at least 20 years of safety records. If compounded hormones were that difficult to compound, wouldn't we know that by now? Certainly I would know in my own practice, but if you look nationwide, that would not have gone unnoticed if they were causing harm.

DR. MICKEY BARBER
BETTER LIFE CAROLINAS

JOIN THE FIGHT TO PROTECT COMPOUNDED HORMONES.
INVEST TODAY!

Visit compounding.com

Learn more about the issue, about your options and about the threat to your patients.

Alliance for
Pharmacy
Compounding

Compounding the Joy of Living