You may know EduCon as the Alliance for Pharmacy Compounding's "Ethical Compounding Conference" – a virtual event that delivers best-practices training to compounding pharmacists and technicians. That hasn't changed.

But this year, it's back with a new user-friendly format. We know you're busy, and setting aside time in a workday, even for professional development, is tough.

That's why we've restructured EduCon as a LIVE virtual learning series that you don't even have to take LIVE if you don't want to.

Over three evenings – one each in July, August and September – you can learn the latest on the hottest topics in compounding from some of the best presenters in the industry and earn six hours of CE credit while you're at it. If you can't attend live, take those sessions on-demand and receive home study CE credit.

TUITION

We've reduced tuition for the event – so it may just be the best deal in compounding education you'll find anywhere.
